Part of letter to Ernesto Galarza from Bard McAllister 9/24/57

Econ. Consq. - community

One aspect of the problem that you did not mention in your Sept. 16 release and which to me is the most important of all, is the subtle demoralizing effect the presence of Nationals has upon the domestic. The domestic pulls into his shell, an unwanted individual, and becomes a ward of the state. Maybe this type of wardship is just another type of subsidy to the grower!

Econ. Consq. - domestics

I ran into an interesting case the other day. Picked up two fellows on 92 They had been to a Farm Labor Office asking for grape cutting, were told there was nothing, they asked if Nationals were working. The reply was 'yes,' but we can not refer agains them unless there is a crew of six who have worked together before!
